Gulf Storm Causes Damage To Corn And Bean Crops

Wind Reaches 45-MPH; 6.25 Inches Of Rainfall Reported Here

An unpredicted tropical storm which blustered and rained its way through this section Monday night and Tuesday caused the destruction of approximately 90 per cent of the bean crop, and about a thousand acres of corn and inundated pastures here.

"But the damage could have been a great deal worse," said H. L. Speer, assistant county agent, "if it had occurred a few weeks later in the period corresponding with that of the hurricane last year." Many growers had been holding up their plantings.

Officials of the American Kenaf Fiber Corporation reported that the kenaf crop at McIntosh Plantation was damaged.

The Sunshine Wednesday on the drained crops probably added to the damage by scaling, Speer said. He estimated that 4,000 acres of corn were washed out, but half of the 1,000 acres of corn might be saved.

Corn losses should not be so serious with the exception of crops which were just set. In the potato crop the acreages just planted may decay but the older plantings probably did not suffer, Speer stated.

But the farmers were beginning Wednesday to dry fields in preparation for discing and replanting.

The story of the "Weeping Cow" was not repeated but some of the cattle have been feet as catfishes and to drain their swampy pastures. The drainage district office in Canal Point reported a rainfall of 6.25 inches during the storm period. At the Everglades Experiment Station the measurements recorded were 6.25 inches from Monday morning at 8 a. m. to Tuesday morning at the same time. The station (Continued on Page 4)

A parade, sponsored by the Fire Department, to start at 3 p. m. Sunday will launch the local observance of Fire Prevention Week October 7-12, according to Fire Chief L. E. Will.

The parade will form on 5th Street and proceed down Ave. A and Main Street to the termination point near Belle Glade High School. It will be a parade on Ave. E. Marching in the parade will be the Belle Glade High School band, Fire Department, police department, Everglades Fire Control District, legionnaires, Lions and colored scout.

A demonstration program of fire fighting techniques and rescue work is scheduled at the parade termination point immediately following it, Will said.

The first annual Firemen's Ball Saturday night from 10 to 2 at the Municipal country club will conclude the week's activities. Joe Segman and his orchestra will furnish the music. Tickets are on sale with all members of the department, Will said.

Local civic clubs and organizations have programs on their programs this week.

Shootin' Blanks By Puente

Chamber of commerce directors were having a serious discussion this week about the best illustrate Belle Glade's pictorial folders which will be widely distributed to advertise the attributes of the city.

One very daring and progressive director suggested that a bathing beauty should somehow be included on the cover. He said that no one advertises anything now-day's bathing suit as an attention getter. The director of a more conservative

ELKS GAIN PERMANENT POSSESSION OF DIST. GOLF TROPHY SUNDAY

Local Elks won the district tournament at the West Palm Beach country club Sunday. The lodge is now in permanent possession of the trophy. Winning team members were Clyde Clayton, R. Y. Creagh, Jr., A. E. Kirchman and Jerry Ruckow. Clayton achieved the highest gross and the lowest net scores. Creagh placed second for low net score. Ruckow and Kirchman were tied for third place.

Other local golfers participating were Billy Weeks, Oscar Van Landingham, Jack Thorne, Bill McClatchey, Gay Hopkins, J. B. Jones, Logan Paris, Bob Davis and Joe Zeman.

Following the matches West Palm Beach Elks were hosts to district Elks and their wives at a buffet supper at the lodge home.

The next district tournament is scheduled the last of November in Ft. Lauderdale.

Participation of local Elks attended a District Deputy meeting in Delray Beach Tuesday night.

Rams Lose Vero Game; Prepare For Clewiston Title

Due to rain soaked fields this week, the Rams got in only one practice Wednesday afternoon when they work out to stop Clewiston's running attack in the final game scheduled tonight in that city.

Cochs Doug Leavitt said the Rams are concentrating on stopping Pittman, Clewiston's All-Suncoast Conference halfback, and also an offensive player.

Joe Leavitt who was hospitalized with torn muscles in his back after the last game, probably won't play tonight, Coach Leavitt said.

Scoring in every period in the game here last Friday night the Vero Beach Indians pulled off some long distance running and defeated the Rams, 28-12.

Quarterback Gary Phillips started the Indians on their TD record with a 40-yard end run in the first period. Ed Bass' kick for the extra point fell short.

Jim Williams retaliated for the Rams by tossing a five-yard touchdown heave to Ken Kirkham in the end zone. Ray Caldwell missed the extra point.

After receiving a Ram punt on their own 10, the Indians drove to midfield. Fullback Bass cut loose with a 50-yard excursion around end for the second Vero score. The Indian fullback also booted the bonus point.

Again nearly equalizing the score Ram end A. J. Harrell caught a 15-yard pass from quarterback Jim Williams. A 40-yard run by halfback Ray Caldwell set up the score.

Kirkham failed to gain the extra point at half-time with his kick and the Rams missed tying the score by one point.

C Of C Directors Ask For Turnpike In Resolution

B. Elliott Presents Resolution Seeking Central Location For Road

Local Chamber of commerce directors in a resolution, asked the State Road Department to consider a central Florida location for the proposed turnpike linking Jacksonville and Miami.

Representative B. Elliott presented the locally drawn resolution to the State Road Department last week.

Directors stated in the resolution that since there is some opposition on the east coast to the road due to the hardships it might bring to developed industry and construction in that area, a central route should be desirable. They stated that a central route also might avert jealousies between east and west coasts and give equal access to both areas.

Pointing to the concentration of fruit and vegetable industries located in the central portion of the state, the resolution stated that the turnpike would be used extensively by freight trucks operating out of these sections.

Directors at a regular meeting Tuesday night authorized George C. Young, secretary, to write a letter to the Palm Beach Port Authority urging that action be speeded on the local port project. They stated that if the letter is ineffective a local delegation will meet with the Authority.

They also discussed plans for familiarizing the public with the project and the advantages it would bring to the community. Along this line they asked Mrs. Young to include in her news letter.

Work on the Belle Glade pictorial folder to include a cotton plant and a truck will be pushed so they will be ready for distribution at the Legion convention.

Repair work on the chamber of commerce building was scheduled to begin in the near future.

Sara Creech Gains Success In Doll Production Plan

The desire to help the Negro race become a greater asset to the nation, started Mrs. Sara Creech, local florist and insurance woman, on a plan which was crowned with success recently.

Through several years of thought, research and seeking opinions of white and colored leaders, Mrs. Creech has developed a high quality Negro doll accurately reflecting the anthropological features of the race. "Sara Lee Dolls," to be constructed on a par with the finest white dolls, will be produced by one of the country's biggest toy manufacturers, the Ideal Toy Corp. and should be on the market sometime next month.

"The plan which started with an idea seemed to evolve step by step before Sara Bulling, a sculptor, Maxine Von Hesse, a friend and myself," Mrs. Creech said. "All of us were completely inexperienced in the doll business."

In my work on the Interracial Council here since the beginning of the organization and through observations of Negro children, I saw the need for the development of toys adequately representing the Negro race," Mrs. Creech said.

"I noticed that attractive colored girls played with white dolls, and I felt that this created an over consciousness of the white type without forming an appreciation and respect for one's own race."

In checking her observation Mrs. Creech sought the advice of Amelia Houston, state operator and local colored leader. Amelia assured Mrs. Creech that there was a decided need for a representative colored doll and that in the search for one she had made a special trip to New York going from one manufacturer to the other.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

By Russell Kay

No one seems to know just how far it started, but Confederate flags have been breaking out like a rash all over the country and the fact is being viewed with alarm in some quarters.

One might think that the staid old Daughters of the Confederacy would whoop with glee, but on the contrary, they are very much put out about it and complain that the dear old flag is being abused and insulted and there ought to be a law or something.

On the other hand, some rock-ribbed Yankees fear that this widespread display of the Rebel emblem will stir up strife that might lead to another Civil War. They point out that it will tend to revive the bitter feeling that existed between the North and South immediately following the war. They are the ones who will take over in the not too distant future. The display of the Confederate flag does not cause any great alarm.

Perhaps its display at this particular time is a good omen. Perhaps it is the nation to stop and consider its meaning and give thought to the future. The courageous and noble men who followed that flag on the battle field were the first to see and condemn the present trend toward centralized bureaucratic government, for they were the first State Righters.

LEGION CONVENTION TO FEATURE BOAT REGATTA

The biggest fall power boat regatta in Florida will be run Oct. 13-14 as a sports festival of the 33rd annual National Convention of the American Legion in Miami Beach.

San Griffith, world famous racing driver, president of the Greater Miami Regatta Committee, has sent letters to most of the country's top speed boat drivers inviting them to compete in the two-day event. Griffith said competition will be for all boat classes with the big 25 inboard hydroplane to tiny midgeet outboard wave skimmers.

Outboard drivers will compete Saturday afternoon, Oct. 13 with Sunday morning devoted to amateur throttle jacks. Sunday afternoon, Oct. 14, the big inboard will take over the spotlight.

The City of Miami is appropriating $3,000 for the event. Griffith plans to pay $100 per heat to the pros. Amateur skippers will be awarded silver trophies, some of the awards of the American Legion.

Members of the committee are confident many Legionnaires will trail their craft to Miami to ride in the two-day event. It's open to all drivers. There is no entry fee.

The committee plans to entertain all visitors at parties and dances in their honor. A number of prominent Miami area power boats skippers plan to race in the Nov. 1951 regatta. W. V. regatta committee has sent letters to most of the country's top speed boat drivers inviting them to compete in the two-day event. Griffith said competition will be for all boat classes with the big 25 inboard hydroplane to tiny midgeet outboard wave skimmers.

Only one type of colored dolls were on the market. These dolls were merely defective white toys which had been painted brown.

"I found that the mammy and common caricature type ideas of colored people were offensive and obnoxious to the race," Miss Creech said. "These forms, only one commercialized, did not offer the Negroes a means of self realization."

After tasting the idea, Miss Creech found it necessary to find out some of the merchandising aspects of the plan, and the Bureau of Education assistance in the early stages of the project.

She talked the plan with her friend Maxine Von Hesse and the markets in New York to determine if such a doll was already in production. She found that it was not.

At this point the project became complicated due to space, time and lack of funds. Miss Bulingame and Miss Von Hesse were in the North and Miss Creech had to remain in the South to operate her business.

They developed the plan that Miss Creech would take multi photographs of Negro boys and girls of all ages and combine them in a folio and forward to Miss Bulingame for study in New York. From these photographs, she would select the best and make the dolls.

Still not satisfied that the dolls were truly representative and entirely accurate, the group took their dolls through the top factory showing it to many colored and white buyers. The opinions and attitudes expressed on the dolls encouraged the growing assurance of the demand for their product.

"None of us knew anything about this business," Miss Creech said, "so we just did what we knew how to do step by step and as we progressed each phase seemed to open before us as though it had been planned and waiting."

Everyone we encountered seemed ready and enthusiastic to help with the plan. She pointed out that Charles Johnson, president of Fish University, conducted a survey at the educational institution and sent the results to Miss Creech when he was asked for an opinion on the plan.

But that was only one of the instances illustrating peoples' willingness to help and the manner in which the way was pointed to open step by step before them.

ROBERTS SUGGESTS RDB CALL PUBLIC MEETING ON TURNPIKE QUESTION Emmett Roberts, Belle Glade representative on the County Resources and Development Committee, suggested that the RDB hold a public meeting at Additional rights-of-way will be required along certain canals conveyed Thursday by the Everglades Drainage District to the Central and Southern Florida Flood Control District, FCD officials inform. The district acquired the canals which are part of the authorized phases of the flood control program to enable early acquisition of the needed rights-of-way and to have them ready when the time comes to begin construction.

The additional rights-of-way will be used for improvement of the channel and for disposal of excavated materials, leaving an adequate berm between the channel and spoil for future maintenance program needs. Landowners are notified of the additional requirements so they may plan their own future developments according to the limits of the land to be acquired by the district, FCD officials say.

The legend in the lower left corner can be used as a guide to determine what additional lands, if any, are needed. The district, in most instances, already has a 200-foot right-of-way which views may be expressed on the controversial toll highway from Jacksonville to Miami.

He made this suggestion at a first RDB directors' meeting of the current fiscal year last week at the First Federal Building in West Palm Beach. He said that "the matter is one too big for the directors alone to express an opinion for the RDB or Palm Beach County."

W. G. Whitehouse, Boca Raton, suggested that information be sought on how many bankruptcies resulted in three years from the time the Pennsylvania Turnpike was completed. He said he believed it amounted to about "ten times the cost of the road."

A five-man nominating committee for the Oct. 25 election of officers appointed at the meeting included A. J. Kirkman, Mrs. D. W. Harris, Mrs. George L. Royal, Mrs. J. L. Murphy, Mrs. Carl Cline, Mrs. R. L. Pipes and Mrs. E. Van Hornes Jr.

The table which was laid covered had a center arrangement of multi-colored hibiscus. Mrs. J. P. Browne the first president and Mrs. E. D. Humphries the current president presided over the meeting.

At the meeting, Mrs. J. L. Pipes and Mrs. E. D. Humphries, who were seated at the Oct. 25 meeting, Luther Jones was reappointed to represent Belle Glade at the last city commission meeting.

Plans for a membership drive after Oct. 25 to raise $45,000 were outlined by Lamar Allen, membership chairman. Directors were asked to give thought to the County Exposition and where it could be held this year.

C. W. McDONALD GIVES TALK AT LIONS CLUB C. W. McDonald gave a talk on National Employment the regular meeting of the Lions Club Wednesday noon in the Legion Hall.

The club membership approved a resolution opposing the recent security measure covering 20 federal agencies on the grounds that it arbitrarily restricts news and editorial comments.

Winners in the Lions Club Short Day contest were Herman Close, first; Jack Basley, second; and George Wedgeworth, third. Mrs. Ruth Wedgeworth, Timmer and Mrs. Marian Narjarian were judges.

Just A Roof Over Your Head It has been noted in viewing many of the new homes being constructed in Belle Glade that the home owners are paying particular attention to the type of roof being placed on their new abodes. The reason for this is because of the fact that during the hurricane season the roof of the home bears the brunt of the terrific winds that come at that time.

There are many types of roofing that can be placed on the home that will withstand these storms. It is a matter of choice from the purchaser as to what kind of roof he wants and what he wants to pay for it. We hear opinions of all kinds as to the durability of various types and their cost.

One of the easiest ways to solve any roofing problem you may have is to consult a firm that specializes in roofing. Select one with years of experience in the location and also one with the trained personnel and competent supervision to practically guarantee you roofing satisfaction.

One of the outstanding firms in our neighborhood is the Glades Roofing Co., conveniently located at 408 S. E. Avenue E.

They offer all of the above qualifications and can rebuild or install your new roof, of any type you desire. Telephone Belle Glade 2555 today. Consult them about any of your roofing problems.

GULF STORM CAUSES

Bill Jeffries, manager of the South Florida Conservancy District, reported that canal depths after the storm were: Bear Beach 14.1 feet at Okeechobee Dam, Chosen pump house 13.6 feet, Hubert 14.5 feet and South Bay 14.8 feet.

He stated that pumps which were started Sunday morning and have been running ever since have as yet made little reduction on the estimated four foot rise.

Harold Rosenberg, secretary-treasurer of Pelican Lake Drainage, Pahokee Drainage, East Shore Drainage and West Beach Water Control districts, reported a ten inch rain fall in the Canal Point area. He estimated that the West Palm Beach Canal rose a foot and a half and that the inside canals showed a rise of three feet in the Pelican District.

TAKING CARE OF FARM MACHINERY IMPORTANT TO FARM AND NATION

Farm machinery is essential to the production of food and the Nation's mobilization effort. Conservation and proper use of this machinery not only will help the farmer realize a profit from his efforts but also will help the Nation get needed supplies for both civilians and the military.

1. Agricultural engineers have worked out 10 rules for farm machinery conservation and use. John M. Johnson of the Florida Agricultural Extension Service lists them as follows:

1. Good management—keeping machinery ready. Make periodic and systematic inspections of all equipment. Clean, oil and repair all machines before putting them away at end of the season. Test machines before putting them back into use. Make regular preventive maintenance practices a habit.

2. Anticipate regular repairs and replacement needs. Have spare parts on hand for replacing worn or broken machine parts or making minor repairs. Make major overhaul during off-season, well ahead of the time when machines will be needed.

3. Keep moving parts of all machines in proper adjustment for best operation and least wear. Periodically determine if equipment is working properly by following course of power from power unit through clutches, gears, shafts, pulleys, belts and chains. Keep nuts, screws and cotter pins tight.

4. Service all machines regularly. Oiling, greasing and cleaning will prevent rust, corrosion and unnecessary wear. Keep air cleaner clean and all connections tight; change crankcase oil filter when oil is changed. Follow manufacturer's recommendation for type, weight and period of application or change of oil and greases.

5. Develop skill in handling machines. Much breakage and undue wear can be eliminated through skillful operation.

6. Protect all machines. Store equipment under a good roof at the farm and under tarpaulins if machines are left in field overnight.

7. Demand and practice safety at all times. Regard farm machinery and electricity as potential danger hazards. Use power take-off shields and guards for moving parts in place before machinery is started.

8. Share equipment with other machinery owners to save time and money and extend the effective use of farm equipment.

We all know that the hospitals of the Veterans Administration provide the best in medical services for those veterans who are entitled to treatment. And, of course, that's the VA's job. But the VA has still another medical service—one less known—but equally valuable. It's called outpatient service.

You see, the ailments of veterans require lengthy treatments under carefully supervised conditions. In cases like that, an abed in a hospital may be the best way to handle things. In the cases of other veterans, however, efficient medical treatment may require merely a few visits to a VA clinic. VA clinics give top medical services, save time, and are handy for the concerned. But there's one thing you fellows must keep in mind about those clinics. Unless you are a Spanish War veteran, your condition can get this type of treatment only when it has to do with a service-connected ailment or injury. This works out fine for a veteran who does not have to stay in a hospital bed.

However, sometimes conditions are such that the best thing is for you to go to your own doctor's private office for treatment... and let the VA pay the bill. But, you will have to remember two things about that.

(1) Your treatment by a private doctor must have to do with a service-connected illness or injury. If you happen to be a Spanish War veteran, you don't have to worry about the cause of your trouble. But...

(2) In all cases, Spanish War veterans or otherwise, you have to get authorization from the VA before they will pay the bill. Authorization should be asked for and as early as possible, unless you want to run the risk of having to pay your doctor out of your own pocket.

Should the veteran need an emergency operation in a local hospital, have his doctor telephone the District Medical Officer of the VA Regional office which has jurisdiction of the veteran's claim file and get proper authorization. This must be done within 24 hours after veteran enters the hospital and before the VA Form 10-827 is used in applying for regular outpatient service.

If you have never filed a claim with the VA for your service-connected disability this benefit cannot be approved. Service-connected disability must be proven before veteran is entitled to outpatient service. VA Form 10-827 is the used in applying for regular outpatient service.

A dependent husband may become entitled to a monthly benefit equal to 50 percent of the amount his insured wife is receiving, provided he has reached age 65, and also if he was receiving at least 50 percent of his support from his spouse at the time the wife became entitled to her old-age benefits. He must either be the father of her child or children or have been married to her for not less than three years.

An added requirement is that the wife must have also been currently insured at the time she filed her application for benefits, that is, she must have been paid wages of $50 or more in six out of the thirteen calendar quarters, consisting of the quarter of retirement and the preceding twelve quarters.

In the category of survivor benefits, we find that a widow age 65 may receive monthly payments for the rest of her life on an amount equal to 75 percent of what the wage earner would have received had he lived to retirement age. Even though under age 65, a widow may be entitled to mothers' benefits as long as she has in her care a child of the deceased wage earner entitled to monthly benefits. Payments to the mother and child would continue until the child reached the age of 18, married, or died. If any of these events occurred, the payments to the mother would terminate. She could, upon reaching age 65, file another application and receive widow's benefits for the rest of her life.

A widow who was receiving at least 50 percent of his support from his wife in the year prior to her death may qualify for death payments for the rest of his life providing he has reached age 65, and provided the deceased wife had worked long enough in covered employment. She must have been both fully and currently insured at the time of her death.

A divorced wife can also become entitled to mother's benefits on her former husband's account in the event she has his child under age 18 in her care and she had been receiving 50 percent of her support from her former husband, prior to his death.

The new law provides now for the payment of a lump-sum death payment in every case, regardless of the fact that a widow, widower, or child may be entitled to monthly payments. In the event no such individuals survive, the lump-sum death payment is payable to the individual who paid the burial expenses of the deceased. Parents also may be entitled to monthly payments at age 65 where there is a showing that they received at least 50 percent of their support from the wage earner in the year prior to his death, and the widow did not leave a widow, widower, or child who may ever qualify for monthly benefits.

County Asked To Put Scrap Metal Into Circulation

A second call to Palm Beach county industrial leaders, farmers and automobile wrecking yard dealers to get every available piece of scrap iron and steel in their possession into "circulation" was received here this week from the National Production Authority of the United States Department of Commerce.

According to Merrill C. Lofton, Commerce Department regional director in Atlantic, scrap iron and steel now lying dormant in this section is not only will it affect the nation's program of defense, it will have an adverse effect on the economy of Palm Beach county through curtailment of the production of consumer goods.

OPS Sends Information On Regulations On Request

Copies of all regulations and other information material concerning charges for services to the public will be mailed without charge to any firm or individual in the Southeast upon request, it is announced by George D. Patterson, Jr., Regional Director of the Office of Price Stabilization in Atlanta.

The Regional OPS office is now preparing a mail list of all firms and individuals offering services in the six southeastern states of Mississippi, Tennessee, Alabama, Florida, Georgia and South Carolina. The purpose of this list is to keep all who are effected by the services regulations, such as laundries, dry cleaners, automobile and other repair shops, service stations, plumbers, electricians and many others, informed of all changes in regulations. Anyone not now receiving copies of the regulations or who has not been notified that he is already on the mailing list should write to: Distribution Center, Office of Price Stabilization, 147 Hunter St., Atlanta, Ga., giving the name of the firm, mailing address and a brief description of the business.

Firms already receiving regulations will be notified of any change of address, Patterson said.

the need for the cooperation of every individual in an effort to reduce this toll.

People who wouldn't think of playing with a stick of dynamite, poking their finger into buzz saws or fumbling a rattlesnake, think nothing of climbing into the driver's seat of a high-powered motor car and risking their necks as reckless drivers.

The press and radio are constantly issuing warning and urging motorists to drive carefully, but it seems folks have become hardened to such advice. The daily accounts of terrible accidents and the horror pictures of the results of reckless driving fail to impress them. They think that accidents are something that can only happen to OTHER PEOPLE.

Reports of traffic officers, highway patrolmen, judges and others show clearly the public indifference to danger. Heavy fines and even jail sentences don't seem to faze some people. Two things stood out as more effective than anything else in dealing with traffic violators: PUBLICITY and loss of their DRIVERS' LICENSES. Time after time motorists will plead guilty, pay a heavy fine or even go to jail if such action will not be recorded in the public prints or not result in the loss of their driver's license.

In cooperation with traffic officials and in an effort to curb automobile accidents in Newark, N. J., the local newspapers decided to fight the evil with what appeared to be the most powerful weapon at their command—PUBLICITY.

Anyone arrested and convicted of drunk or reckless driving could be certain of one thing if he lived in Newark. His name, address and in all probability his picture was sure to appear in the paper.

With this powerful newspaper backing the police and traffic officials clamped down. They used the next most powerful weapon—publicity. The offense on the culprit's driver's license or, when justified, saw that the license was revoked.

After this campaign had been in progress a short time the number of accidents and arrests dropped sharply and Newark became one of the safest cities in the nation for both motorists and pedestrians. A few Florida papers make a practice of publishing the names of those convicted of drunk or reckless driving or causing an accident. This is always helpful if every culprit is treated alike regardless of his station in life, wealth or political influence.

One Florida daily recently published the fact that its managing editor was arrested and convicted. The people of a community where alert newspapers publish such information without fear or favor become safety-conscious. It was reported by one publisher that in several instances where accidents occurred and names were not printed because they had not been shown on police records, subscribers called up to ask WHY and gave the names and full information.

Investigation revealed that the officer had heeded the plea of the motorist and failed to report the case. PUBLICITY put a stop to this and now the people of the community are AFRAID, not of the real danger but rather the PUBLICITY.

It takes real courage for an editor or publisher, particularly of a small town paper, to publish the name and may be the picture of his local banker or next door neighbor under such circumstances, but it WILL stop the greatest cause of accidents, reckless and drunken driving, and the community as a whole will have greater respect for and confidence in their local paper.

The safety and welfare of all the people in a community, or the life of one child, is more important than the embarrassment or shame caused a guilty individual.

FBI REPORTS CATTLE RUSHLING CONTINUES IN VARIOUS SECTIONS

J. Edgar Hoover, Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, announced today that FBI investigations of the law which prohibits the interstate transportation of stolen cattle clearly indicate that cattle rustling continues to persist in many sections of the country.

The old-time outlaw bands have been replaced, however, by a more modern type of rustler, Mr. Hoover explained. The cattle rustler today is generally riding in a pickup truck and is armed with a flashlight and wire cutters. Instead of stealing large herds, he is the custom of the legends of the frontier West, the modern rustler will take only a few head at a time and depend on rapid transportation and distance to save him from being identified.

During the 1951 fiscal year, 27 persons were convicted as a result of FBI investigations of violations of this law and received sentences totaling 83 years, five months and one day. Stolen cattle recovered as a result of FBI investigations were valued at more than $13,000.

In one case three individuals who stole a total of 40 head of cattle at various times in Florida and sold them in near-by Alabama were convicted in Federal court in connection with these thefts and received sentences of five years, two years and one year and one day. Aberdeen Angus cattle valued at $2,700 were recovered.

In another case investigated by the FBI two individuals were convicted in connection with the transportation to Maryland of 15 steers, valued at $6,000, stolen from a stockyard in Philadelphia. Both of these persons received one year, six months sentence.

The FBI's investigation jurisdiction in cattle theft cases covers only those in which interstate transportation is involved, and as such, would constitute only a small portion of the actual cattle rustling incidents.

The facilities of the FBI Laboratory, however, are available to all local law enforcement agencies for the examination of evidence in cattle theft cases.

The services of the Laboratory have been helpful in establishing the identity of stolen cattle as well as assisting in the identification of documents which are sometimes utilized in stolen cattle thefts.

Mr. Hoover pointed out that the current economic conditions and the possibility of black market may encourage an increase in cattle rustling. The black market in the past has provided a lucrative outlet for stolen cattle, he said.

Re-armament Program Causes Shortage of Agricultural Chemicals

Demand on the chemical industry by the nation's re-armament program and foreign policy have caused shortages of chemicals needed for agriculture. The effects of these shortages, insofar as possible, and still maintain production will be an important subject to be discussed at the Eighth Annual Convention of the Florida Fruit & Vegetable Association on meeting in Miami Beach at the Sherry Frontenac Hotel on Oct. 3, 4 and 5, according to Paul B. This committee will work closely with the local banks and the Red Cross, which has general supervision over a nationwide blood-drawing program and the committee will soon hold its first meeting to draw up a working program for guidance of all local units directly concerned with this important task. The medical world, statistics reveal, is daily finding more uses for blood transfusions and the national requirements from blood banks is being gradually stepped up. This increase, plus constant demands of the armed forces, is putting steady pressure on the blood program. Naturally, the demands would sky-rocket in the event of an all-out war and civil defense would then have to implement a blood program to meet any requirements that might result from a wide-scale enemy air attack.

SIDNEY STEINBERG

Sidney Steinberg, Assistant National Labor Secretary of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, who was indicted by a Federal Grand Jury at New York City in 1951, on a charge of conspiracy to advocate the violent overthrow of the government, is being sought as a fugitive from justice by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. The FBI has requested the citizens of the country and the law enforcement agencies to assist in locating Steinberg. His description is as follows: Age 36; born September 19, 1914; Otomas Kaunas, Lithuania; height, 5 feet 6 one half inches; weight, 157 pounds; build, medium; hair, brown; eyes, blue; complexion, light; race, white; nationality, American.

Steinberg, who used the name Sid Stein in connection with his Communist Party work, resided at Jackson Heights, Long Island, New York, prior to his disappearance. From April, 1950, to September, 1952, he resided in Worcester, Massachusetts, and prior to assuming his duties as a full time functionary of the Communist Party, Steinberg worked as a meat cutter in New York and New Jersey. He attended grammar school in Lithuania and was naturalized in March, 1938, in New York City. He has been in the Communist Party since about 1936 and was at one time an organizer in New Jersey. He also held other offices in the Communist Party in Camden County, New Jersey, and in 1945 became Chairman of the New Jersey State Communist Party. His parents, two sisters and three brothers reside at Worcester, Massachusetts. Steinberg claimed at one time that he had a heart murmur.

Any person having information which may assist in locating Sidney Steinberg is requested to immediately notify the nearest FBI office.

These nationwide shortages may be reflected only in part in the supplies available to Florida's farmers, because of the fact that Florida is planting and growing when much of the nation is harvesting or has harvested, but it is likely that there will be some severe shortages at times.

"How to best withstand these shortages and still profitably produce the expected volume will be an important phase of the discussions by these experts who have accepted our invitations to attend. Their opinions will be of great value to everyone who produces fruits and vegetables for market.

Also of great value will be the exhibits of prominent suppliers to the industry including chemical manufacturers whose resented tax bill with explanation of provisions of peculiar interest to Florida.

SO. BAY LEGION POST
INSTALLS NEW OFFICERS

American Legion Post 181 of South Bay seated new officers at a mass installation of the Glades American Legion and Auxiliary posts and units at the Canal Point Community Recreation Hall recently. Lee Duncan of Fort Lauderdale was installation officer.

Post Commander Sam E. Henderson, First Vice-Commander J. C. Bowen, Second Vice-Commander Earl Walker, Finance Officer O'neal Walker, Service Officer Howell Goodbread, Adjutant W. C. Allen, Chaplain Eric D. Hartline, Historian Joe Wall, Sergeant-at-Arms Horace H. Walker are officers for the South Bay Post.

Arrangements are now under way for the organization of an Auxiliary in South Bay in the very near future.

The new American Legion Hall on N. W. Canal Street is in use. It is finished on the exterior painted white with green cornice trim, and the grounds have been landscaped and graded. Interior finishing is still in progress. When completed it will have a tile floor, brick glass trim at door and window facings.

It has a large auditorium when complete will have offices, kitchen, rest rooms and snack bar. The kitchen equipment was furnished at a kitchen shower sponsored by the Womans Home Demonstration Club, and chairs and tables were purchased with cash donations.

Several club meetings, post gatherings and social affairs have already taken place, and a big event is being planned for early in November.

PTA DISCUSSES PLANS FOR ANNUAL CARNIVAL

The Parent Teachers Association of South Bay met at the school auditorium Monday evening, President Frank B. Willis presiding.

Plans were discussed for the annual carnival and events to be staged decided upon. It was agreed not to have a raffie as it is against the policies of the association. Mrs. Marvin Davis and Mrs. Calvin Peacock are general chairmen in charge. The date of the carnival will be announced later.

The committee reported that they have been unable to buy helmets for the School Bay Parol to date, and it was agreed to leave it to the members of the patrol whether to purchase helmets or buy caps similar to the regulation police officer's cap. It was voted to buy four raincoats for the patrol members on duty to wear during rainy weather.

The program committee distributed programs for the year to all attending.

The eighth grade taught by Principal C. J. Peacock was awarded room prize for the month.

The program consisted of a strip film demonstration by the four elementary teachers, Mrs. Edythe Eckert, Mrs. Leslie Martin, Mrs. Olga Hardy and Mrs. Ruth Murphy. Each teacher showed a film and explained how it fits her students' work.

Mrs. J. Frank Prevatt, Mrs. Hovas Prevatt and Mrs. E. J. Cross, all of Bean City, were hostesses for the evening and served sandwiches, coffee and cocoa to the approximately 25 members in attendance.

PROGRESS WITH CORN HAS BEEN GOOD, BUT MORE COULD BE DONE

Florida's corn crop this year is an example of significant progress in agriculture in the state, but it is still far from what farmers should be satisfied with in production of this important feed crop.

When he pointed out recently that the crop this year will average 15 bushels per acre and is the best in the history of the state, Agronomist Russell Henderson of the University of Florida Agricultural Extension Service commended farmers and research men for the rapid progress in corn production but also pointed out that the average yield is still one of the lowest in the South-east.

"Since the average yield of corn in Florida was 11 bushels per acre during the 10-year period beginning in 1936 and ending in 1945," Mr. Henderson said, "our yield of 15 bushels per acre this year is a notable sign of progress. That average of 15 bushels, however, is for the state as a whole, and were it not for the much higher yields obtained by some farmers, this year, and those are the farmers who will do well to follow the example set by those who have obtained high yields. Our average yield this year would stimulate many farmers to strive for higher production."

Increased acreage of high-yielding hybrids—such as Deltapine 18 (in the development of which the Florida Agricultural Experiment Station played an important part) and North Carolina 27—has been an important factor in corn progress in Florida during the past three or four years. The greatly increased plantings of blue lupine and other cover crops have enriched the soil and have resulted in heavier production. More efficient use of nitrogen fertilizer has been important. More fertile soil as a result of cover crops and better use of fertilizer have made it possible to plant corn more closely than in past, and the high yielding hybrids have responded well to the improved soil conditions.

"All of those factors," the agronomist averred, "are responsible for the notably larger yields obtained by farmers who used them to advantage and also for our increased state average, but there are many farmers who are not using them and are not obtaining the satisfactory yields it is hoped that those who are not doing so already will plant winter cover crops this year, use fertilizer more efficiently with their crops next year, and plant one of the proven hybrid varieties."

Occupational Therapy Added At Chattahoochee

Some of the patients at the Florida State Hospital at Chattahoochee are happy because of a new service—Occupational Therapy.

Time that used to hang heavy on their hands is now used to make things—baskets, wallets, rugs, dresses, jewelry—like things—things they can be proud of—there is nothing like making something oneself to feel good. Miss Mary Parker, the new Occupational Therapist, is well trained. She comes to the Hospital with a great deal of experience and know how.

The Florida Mental Health Society urges Clubs and organizations to send—books, current magazines, games, sea shells of all sizes and descriptions, discarded tooth brushes (you should see the rings made out of these) playing cards, jigsaw puzzles, violins, records, musical instruments, piano and orchestra sheet music, dress patterns, lengths of dress materials, yarn, crocheted thread, needles, scraps of material, in fact just about anything in the way of OCCUPATION THERAPY and RECREATIONAL MATERIAL.

SEND these articles to the Florida State Hospital in care of Mrs. Mary Parker, Occupational Therapist, Chattahoochee, Florida.

The Budget does not provide sufficient funds for these items. It would help to make these "FORGOTTEN PEOPLE" in our State Hospital known that at least they have been remembered.

Motorcade To Illustrate How Messages Are Sent To People Behind Iron Curtain

A two-unit motorcade which will show the people of Florida how America gets its message of truth through the iron curtain has started a tour which will take it into almost every community in the state during September.

Harold C. Florida State Chairman of the Crusade for Freedom, says this motorcade will help spark the drive of the Crusade for Freedom in which has set a national goal of 25,000,000 members and $3,500,000.

At each stop it will present samples of the types of broadcasts which Radio Free Europe uses to fight Communism in the Russian-controlled satellite

Mid-Summer Dream

By BETTY BARCLAY

Bake a tender meringue shell, fill it with luscious chocolate coconut ice cream, shower the top with additional flimsy coconut, and there you have a dreamy dessert as ever good as a midsummer company dinner! What's more, it doesn't require a lot of time in an overworked kitchen. The meringue shell calls for a low-temperature oven; and the refrigerator takes care of the filling.

If time saving is of first importance to you, then the filling can be your favorite prepackaged ice cream from the store instead of the home-made variety. Only do take time to add the delicate touch to it—let it stand at room temperature until soft enough to fold in ¾ cup of toasted coconut. Freeze until firm. At dessert time, fill meringue shell with the coconut ice cream, sprinkle with additional coconut, and serve with pride. Mmm! A midsummer dream.

Chocolate Coconut Ice Cream Pie
1 egg whites
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup sifted granulated sugar
¼ cup finely chopped nut meats
1 teaspoon vanilla
Chocolate Coconut Ice Cream

Beat egg whites with rotary egg beater until foamy. Add salt and cream of tartar and continue beating until mixture will stand in soft peaks. Add sugar gradually and continue beating until mixture is very stiff. Fold in nut meats and vanilla. Turn into lightly greased 8-inch pie pan and make a meringue shell, building sides up to 1½ inch above pie pan. Bake in slow oven (200° F.) 30 to 45 minutes.

Fill with your favorite ice cream. Top with toasted coconut. Bake in a slow oven (200° F.) 30 to 45 minutes.

Local committees of the Crusade for Freedom in each town where the motorcade stops will cooperate in the demonstration, and will accept donations. Each stop will be brief to let the motorcade reach as many Floridians as possible during the month.

THE CRUSADE FOR FREEDOM will keep Stalin so busy in his own back yard that he will have no chance to cause trouble elsewhere. Have you contributed to the CRUSADE FOR FREEDOM?

How does it feel to drive a Buick?

If you think perhaps we're hinting that it would be a good idea for you to try out a Buick—mister, you've never been so right.

It does a lot of things for you and to you that will be something new in your driving experience.

Take the way it feels beneath your hands on the wheel—eager and willing and anxious to please.

It spurts when you want to spurt—rolls with effortless momentum when you want to cruise.

When you take a curve, it snugs down to the road with sure-footed confidence.

After you make a turn, the front wheels instinctively seek a straight course. This car seems to guide itself.

When you come to a bumpy stretch, each separate wheel on its own coil spring steps you smoothly along on a level keel.

Then there's the power that surges into action at a nudge of your toe—sends your speedometer needle soaring up to any speed the law allows, in a matter of seconds.

And there is also thrift—the gas-saving thrift that comes from a high-compression valve-in-head Fireball Engine found in no other car.

To top all this, there is Dynaflo Drive®—that feeds power in a steady, falterless flow—lets you ride relaxed.

in busy traffic or on a day-long cross-country drive.

We're willing to stand on the statement that no other car rides, performs or drives like a Buick.

But why take our word for it? Come in—take over one of these lively lovelies—and see for yourself.
